WASHINGTON, June 21 -- Rich Feuer Anderson, LLC ("RFA") announced today that Ben Harney has joined the firm as a Principal. Ben brings experience in a wide-range of policy issues and will provide clients strategic advice based on his extensive background working in Congress.

RFA is a bipartisan strategic advocacy and advisory boutique focused on measurable policy outcomes in an ever-changing political environment. Ben joins the accomplished RFA team from the U.S. House Oversight Committee, where he served as Deputy Staff Director. In this position, Ben was responsible for the daily operations of the committee, overseeing its legislative strategy, litigation portfolio, and several high-profile investigations.

Prior to his position with the Oversight Committee, Ben worked on the U.S. House Financial Services Committee, where he managed and directed the operations of the Subcommittee on Investor Protection, Entrepreneurship, and Capital Markets as former Chairwoman Carolyn Maloney's (D-NY) counsel and designee.

"Since we started RFA almost 20 years ago, we have always focused on having a bipartisan team of experienced and substantive experts. Ben's background and strong depth of knowledge on financial services and oversight issues strengthens and continues this focus and will be invaluable to our firm and our clients," said partner Peter Rich.

"I am excited to have Ben join our consulting team. I believe Ben will provide that edge that helps our clients succeed in an everchanging political environment," added partner John Anderson.

"Ben is very well-regarded on Capitol Hill, and Members of Congress and congressional staff have constantly sought his advice and counsel. Add to this his strong relationships with financial regulators and Ben is positioned well to serve our clients on day one. I look forward to having him at RFA," added principal Tom Koonce.

"I have known and worked with RFA for many years and look forward to joining this talented and well-respected team. The legislative and regulatory environment continues to evolve in Washington, and I am excited about the opportunity to bring my years of experience to bear to help our clients navigate these shifting landscapes to achieve their policy goals," said Ben.
